Showdown Near On Transfer of Highway Funds

$15 Million Yearly May Go Direct to Local Governments

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A legislative showdown is in the making on a bill to give local governments $15 million a year for highway purposes which now is used by the state.

The House-approved bill to help cities, counties and townships with their road programs is expected to emerge, virtually unchanged, from a Senate committee this week—the 15th work week of the 104th General Assembly. It probably will be on the Senate floor for a vote next week.

The opposition of Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Highway Director Everett S. Preston to the bill shifting highway funds from the Ohio Highway Department to local governments provided much of the blast-off material in the Republican-generated explosion in the State Senate last week.

Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, accused Preston of conducting a vicious lobby against the bill to strip the Highway Department of the $15 million a year. He also accused Preston of lobbying in favor of a bill to increase the fee for auto licenses from $10 to $12.50 a year—a bill which would give local governments more highway funds than the $15 million proposed by no-new-tax Republicans.

DiSalle exonerated Preston of the lobbying charge at Friday's cabinet meeting. The governor said public officials have the right and duty to appear before legislative committees and get in touch with individual lawmakers in connection with bills they support or oppose.

The Republican-sponsored bill would give local governments the money now used to operate the Ohio Department of Highway Safety. That money now comes out of license tag fees. Under the law, all money from license fees, except tag fees. Under the law, all money from license fees, except the amount needed by the safety department, goes to local governments.

Republicans proposed to finance the safety department from gasoline tax revenues. Quite simply, that would release the auto-tag (Continued on Page 2)

Viet Nam Vote Goes Heavily To West Ally

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Pro-Western President Ngo Dinh Diem won re-election by an even bigger margin than expected today as voters rejected Communist attempts to sabotage South Viet Nam's first democratic-style national election.

The 60-year-old bachelor president polled well over 80 per cent of the vote cast and showed his greatest strength in the hotbed of Red rebel terrorism—the swamps and ricefields of the Mekong River delta southwest of Saigon. He racked up better than 90 per cent of the vote in this region.

The Sunday voting apparently went off peacefully, without a single major incident. One grenade throwing and an ambush—with no casualties—were reported in the south.

Officials estimated about 70 per cent of the nation's 7.2 million voters cast ballots Sunday after a campaign marked by increasing terrorist attacks by the Viet Cong Communists.

One official said the Communists had suffered serious losses in clashes with government forces in the last two weeks and now they had lost face by failing to carry out their threat to sabotage the election. But the Communists remained a formidable foe, and most observers believe the quiet is only a lull—that the Viet Cong remains as determined as ever to overthrow Diem's government, whose most powerful ally is the United States.

President Outlines Role in Alliance

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy pledged today the United States will strengthen its conventional military forces in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and also maintain an effective nuclear weapons capability.

In apparent response to stated fears that nuclear war might be set off unnecessarily by trigger-happy response to small-scale aggression, the President stressed U.S. determination to keep all its own forces under high command to make deterrent strength "do what we wish, neither more nor less."

Kennedy made his pledges in an address prepared for a meeting of the NATO military committee.

"NATO needs to be able to respond to any conventional attack with conventional resistance which will be effective at least long enough, in Gen. Norstad's phrase, to force a pause," Kennedy said.

He was referring to Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme commander of NATO forces in Europe.

"To this end," the President said, "we ourselves mean to maintain our own divisions and supporting units in Europe and to increase their conventional capabilities."

Kennedy made no specific mention of differences within NATO over control and use of nuclear weapons. France, for example, has wanted a bigger voice in this field.

Referring to a speech Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan made last week at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Kennedy said Macmillan had pointed out the urgency of this control matter.

"The United States," Kennedy pledged, "means to do its full share in working toward a good solution of the problem, and we believe that the clarity and firmness of our own commitment to the full defense of Europe can be helpful in this direction."

Cincinnati Makes Multimillion Deal

CINCINNATI (AP)—Harrison O. Ash, Cincinnati financier and industrial developer, has announced completion of a $3 million hotel deal, the setting up of a $2 million development company and the purchase of three businesses for $2 million.

Ash said he bought the Kenilworth Hotel, Miami Beach, Fla., from the heirs of Walter S. Schot and Arthur Godfrey of radio-TV fame last November.

The three firms bought by Ash were identified as the Kirby Hotels Co., New York, an operating company, for $500,000; the Action Rod Co. and the Action Flex Co. of Hastings, Mich., for $500,000; and the Wagemaker Co. of Cadillac, Mich., for $1 million.

Ash said the firms he bought do about $18 million worth of business a year. He said he hopes to double this by the end of 1964.

Dayton Jewelry Store Is Hit by Burglars

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Police Lt. R. G. Reed found a window broken and the safe gone at the north Dayton jewelry and TV store early today, and the owners reported cash, checks and diamonds totaling $10,000 gone. A few hours later, the safe, which appeared to have been burned, was found near Miami.

Air Force Probes Maverick Missile

GRANTS, N.M. (AP)—The Air Force has ordered fighter pilots to stop making practice attacks on other airplanes until it finds out how a maverick missile knocked a B52 bomber out of the sky.

Three crewmen were killed Friday when the B52 crashed and exploded after an air-to-air Sidewinder missile broke loose from an F100 jet fighter and hit one of the bomber's eight jet engines.

The fighter was making a run at the bomber when the accident occurred. In Washington Sunday the Air Force announced suspension of all practice intercepts.

Five of the bomber's crew escaped. Three were picked up within hours after the accident. The other two were not found until Sunday.

Capt. Ray C. Obel, 28, Logan, Ohio, the bomber's copilot, and S-Sgt. Manuel C. Mieras, 23, crew chief from Flagstaff, Ariz., suffered through a blizzard that dropped temperatures to 10 degrees and produced winds of 65 miles per hour.

Nonetheless, a military hospital said their conditions were good. "Marvelous and certainly miraculous," said an Air Force spokesman.

Mieras, who broke a leg when he hit the ground, fashioned a crutch from a tree limb and hobbled to an abandoned shepherd's hut. He found a deck of cards and spent the time playing "one-handed pinocchio—I was sure I was going to win on it."

Obel and Mieras, who bailed out at 35,000 feet, were found at widely separated spots in the Mt. (Continued on Page 2)

Greenwich Village Songfest Turned into Bruising Battle

NEW YORK (AP)—Folk-singing fans and police turned Greenwich Village's Washington Square into an eight-acre wrestling ring Sunday in a shoving, bruising battle over a ban on impromptu songfests.

Judge Ammer Is Secretary For New Group

Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William Ammer Saturday was named secretary of the conservancy court that will handle the organization of the proposed Scioto Conservancy District.

Ammer received the appointment at a meeting of the judges heading the five-county flood control program. The court will rule after May 26, whether the new district shall be formed.

On that date the court will hear oral arguments on written objections, if any, filed prior to the session in the Franklin County Courthouse.

The organizing judges said Saturday they have heard no objections to the new district, which will be comprised of Franklin, Pickaway, Ross, Pike and Scioto counties.

Franklin County Common Pleas Judge Kenneth L. Sater was elected presiding judge of the conservancy court.

Other attending the organizing meeting were Judges Harry Goldsberry, Chillicothe; Earl Parker, Waverly; and Vernon Smith, Portsmouth.

The new district would replace the disbanded Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District.

Herbert B. Eagon, state director of natural resources, told the judges all conservancy district projects should be multipurpose—flood control, water conservation and recreation.

Eagon pointed to proposed laws in the legislature, one of which would establish watershed districts which would conform to drainage areas rather than along county borders.

He said he did not oppose the new five-county district. But he asserted the problem "encompasses all land (part or all of 27 counties) which drains into the Scioto River."

"What happens to Columbus, Circleville, Chillicothe and Portsmouth," Eagon said, "is in the headwaters in Delaware County."

When the tumult and the shouting had died after about three hours, 10 demonstrators—including novelist Harold L. Humes—were under arrest and several nursed assorted scratches and bruises.

One policeman suffered a bitten hand. He said a dog did it.

Nine of the 10 arrested were released in bail on charges of holding a demonstration in the park without a permit. Five of them also were tagged with an additional charge of disorderly conduct.

The tenth defendant, Louis Pagliaroli, remained in a cell on charges of felonious assault on a policeman and of interfering with an arrest.

The demonstrators showed up at the park at 2 p.m., protesting a ruling by Parks Commissioner Newbold Morris against Sunday afternoon musicals there.

The get-togethers are a tradition that villagers have kept alive for almost two decades. But Morris says activities of the itinerant musicians make it impossible to turn the park into an attractive area.

Police kept a respectful distance from the placard-carrying, chanting group until several began to strum the guitars, banjos and zithers they carried. Then the police moved in.

Soon a riot call went out and more cops arrived. More demonstrators also arrived, including a few who began throwing eggs.

When the paddy wagons arrived, police began loading them with principals in the demonstration. Humes, thrashing with his arms, was one of the first to go—shouting that he was "against any police suppression of the arts."

At the height of the battle, police estimated, several hundred persons were taking part with a thousand watching from a safe distance.

The Bonn Justice Ministry issued a report March 29 showing that West German courts tried and sentenced at least 2,027 Nazi criminals between 1945 and 1960 for crimes ranging from simple assault to mass murder.

But this report covers only three of the 10 states and West Berlin. The Justice Ministry says seven states have kept no statistics on such trials.

There is no doubt that Nazi criminals were vigorously pursued and tried by West German authorities. But this lack of trial statistics could well be an indication of the desire to forget the past.

Jewish Survivors Ready To Confront Eichmann

Burned-Out Liner Sinks

212 Still Missing In Persian Gulf

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP)—The burned-out wreck of the British liner Dara sank today as salvage ships were trying to beach her in the Persian Gulf. Hope dwindled for 212 passengers—including an American couple—and crewmen missing in the shark-infested gulf.

A British government spokesman said 565 survivors were accounted for, and some of the missing might have been picked up by rescue ships that had not yet reported. It was doubtful that could account for many.

Most of the missing were Asians, but the missing included an American employee of the Caltex Oil Co., L. V. Dorsch of Brooklyn, N.Y., and his wife, Vala. They were reported on their way to California to retire after 35 years with Caltex, much of it in Bahrain.

The 5,030-ton Dara had 740 passengers and crewmen aboard early Saturday when she collided with another ship during a storm. The Dara kept going but at 4:43 a.m. an explosion in the engine room rocked the liner and fire broke out. The flames spread rapidly through the ship.

Braving explosions, firefighting parties from the British and U.S. navies boarded the blazing liner and reported Sunday they had the fire under control.

The ship's owners, the British India Steamship Co., said the British Navy had planned to start towing her to the Persian Gulf island of Bahrain today "but a deterioration in the condition of the Dara overnight" caused the decision to try to beach her. She sank about 15 miles off the Oman coast of the Arabian Peninsula.

A British government spokesman said most of the 740 persons aboard were Indians and other Asians. Scores jumped in panic into the stormy gulf waters infested with sharks.

Two of the burglaries were at Circleville taverns—one at the Circle Bar on E. Ohio St. and the other at Sons Grill, S. Court St. The county entries were at the Atlanta Grain Co. and Conley's Service Station on Route 62 near Derby.

A hub cap theft and an attempt to steal caps also were reported to city police.

The four burglaries were reported to police and sheriff headquarters today. The hub cap incidents were reported yesterday.

PATROLMEN William Goff and William Brungs said the Circle Bar was entered by forcing a rear door. A similar entry was made at the tavern last week.

Officers said money boxes containing change were taken from a cigarette machine and music box at the Circle Bar. A liquor cabinet was opened, but none of the contents was taken, the officers said.

Entry was made at Sons Grill by forcing a rear window. Officers said the intruders again took money from a music box. A cigarette machine also was opened, but according to the policemen, the thieves spilled the money from the coin box in their haste.

The most loot was taken at Conley's station. Deputy Alva Boyer said missing merchandise included 10 cartons of cigarettes, four packages of razor blades, two knives and 50 cents from a cash register.

Boyer said the station was entered by forcing a rear door.

Nothing was reported missing at the Atlanta Grain Co., according to Deputy Dixie Watters. He said access to the building was gained by forcing an outer door. An inner office door also was forced.

THE theft of two hub caps was reported by George Tester, 365 E. Mound St. Orlando Brown, E. Ohio St., said an attempt was made to remove two hub caps and fender skirts from his car.

Officers said pry marks were found on the caps and fender equipment. They said the thieves apparently were scared away by the arrival home of State Highway Patrolman Gene Miller who lives near the area.

NEW YORK (AP)—Indications that the Soviet Union is about to launch a man into space, or have done so, were reported today by the Columbia Broadcasting System radio network.

A CBS spokesman said a live short-wave broadcast from the CBS correspondent in Moscow, Marvin Kalb, indicated that an announcement of the man-in-space launching was expected this morning, but apparently was held up.

The information was gleaned from Kalb's frequently interrupted report, carried on CBS radio's world news roundup. CBS said there seemed to have been "considerable cutting" in the transmission, either accidental or on purpose.

Parts of the broadcast, with the apparently deleted portions indicated by the word "blank" went like this:

Six Plead Guilty At Arraignments

Six persons indicted by the April session of the Pickaway County Grand Jury entered pleas of guilty at their arraignments Saturday before Judge William Ammer.

Another three persons indicted by the jury made pleas of innocent and eight persons indicted did not appear, Court officials said.

Two persons are to appear for arraignments at 10 a. m. Saturday in Common Pleas Court. They are Ralph Archey, Londonderry, who was indicted on two counts of forgery and Donald Johnson, 363 E. Mound St., two counts of forgery and two counts of uttering a forged instrument.

Those entering pleas of guilty and their sentences or probationary periods are:

DELMAR Weaver Jr., 148 E. Ohio St., sentenced to two days in jail and fined $50 and costs for operating a vehicle without an operator's license; Daniel Boyssel, Route 4, Williamsport, three years probation for breaking and entering and attempted breaking and entering; Thomas W. Powell, Route 1, Bloomingburg, three years probation for breaking and entering and attempted breaking and entering; John Joseph, Cincinnati, 1-15 years at Mansfield Reformatory, breaking and entering and attempted breaking and entering; Marvin Crumley, Route 1, Ashville, non-support, five years probation; Donald Haddox, 373 Weldon Ave., five years probation for non-support; * * *

Jerusalem Trial Starts Tuesday

Murder of Millions Laid against Ex-Nazi

JERUSALEM (AP)—Adolf Eichmann today neared the fateful hour that will bring him face to face in court with Jewish survivors of the Nazi extermination camps—including some who claim to have suffered personally at his hands.

Eichmann was chief of the Gestapo's Jewish Affairs Section during World War II. He goes to trial before a special panel of three Israeli judges in Jerusalem Tuesday morning.

Israel, in a massive, 15-count indictment, accuses him of "crimes against the Jewish people and crimes against humanity." Death is the maximum penalty.

The second paragraph of the indictment reads:

"The accused, together with others during the period, 1939 to 1945, caused the killing of millions of Jews in his capacity as the person responsible for the execution of the Nazi plan for the physical extermination of the Jews, known as 'the final solution of the Jewish problem.'"

Part of the support for this charge comes from 242 papers, letters and reports captured in the Foreign Office of Nazi Germany during the war.

The state has scheduled 39 witnesses to testify. Of these, 13 met Eichmann personally during the dark years when—the prosecution alleges—he was carrying out "the final solution."

Three of the witnesses, Yoda Brand, his wife, Hansi, and Philip Freudiger, met Eichmann in Hungary in 1944. This was when the Nazis devised the scheme to release a million Jews in exchange for 10,000 Allied army trucks.

Brand will testify that Eichmann said: "Blood for goods—goods for blood."

Avraham Krassik, another witness was a member of a group of 70 Jewish prisoners rounded up to obliterate evidences of the work of Nazi murder teams known as Einsatzgruppen (operational squads).

In the early stages of the "final solution", thousands of Jews were slain by firing squads. Late in 1944, when the Nazi's Eastern front was crumbling, hasty efforts (Continued on Page 2)

Wounded Witness Placed in Hiding

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Richard Stanley, who was shot just before he was to testify in an armed robbery trial last month, has been removed from a Youngstown hospital, but to where, authorities are not saying.

The former Warren policeman had been listed in critical condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital with shoulder and head wounds.

Prosecutor Lynn B. Griffith Jr. said last week Stanley will be able to testify in the trial of Orland Carrabia, now scheduled to start Wednesday in Trumbull County Common Pleas Court.

Carrabia, of Struthers, was indicted for a $20,000 holdup of the Griswold Store here in 1956.

Stanley, 37, was indicted with Carrabia and others in a series of holdups and burglaries from 1955 through 1958. He is believed to be a key witness for the state.

Landlady's Son Held As Fire Kills Pair

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A young couple perished and three persons were injured slightly early today in a fire that swept a three-story house on the east side near the University of Akron.

Dead were Edward H. Archer, 20, and his wife, Diane, 18, who were trapped in their second-floor apartment.

Alvin Vaughn, 50, son of Mrs. Phyllis Vaughn, 72, owner of the house, was arrested on an intoxication charge. Fire Chief Gerald Vernotzy said the fire apparently started from a cigarette carelessly tossed away by Vaughn. Firemen estimated damage to the house and the contents at $10,000.

Scientists Believe Cancer May Be Caused by Virus

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A strong possibility that some forms of human cancer may be caused by a virus has been advanced by scientists from research projects in New York and Chicago.

Researchers from the two separate projects presented papers at the annual meeting of the American Association for Cancer Research Friday, outlining their progress along the same theory.

Drs. Irving Greenspan and Steven O. Schwartz of the Hektoen Institute for Medical Research and Cook County Hospital, Chicago, reported that leukemia, the deadly cancer of the blood and blood forming organs, is probably caused by a virus in both mouse and man—and the disease in each is closely related.

Three other scientists — Elmer T. Feltz, Dr. James T. Grace and Dr. Julian L. Ambrus of the Rose-Walsh Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo, N.Y.—said they have carried out an experiment producing virus-induced tumors in human beings for the first time.

They described the experiment as another step toward determining whether any human cancers are caused by viruses.

Researchers at the Chicago project determined that the blood serum from human leukemia patients failed to protect guinea pigs against the disease. This indicated that the blood of people with leukemia, for some reason, did not possess antibodies against the disease.

Nor did the blood of healthy children or adults, or people sick with other kinds of cancer.

But doctors and others who work with leukemia victims did have protective antibodies against the disease in their blood. They apparently had become infected with leukemia but were able to produce the antibodies.

The experiment left the paramount question: Why were there money for local government use.

But, Preston and DiSalle complain, that would rob the Highway Department of money it needs to match federal funds on a 90 per cent federal-10 per cent state basis for construction of interstate highways. A loss of $15 million in matching funds, they say, could cost the state $165 million in interstate highway construction—roughly equivalent to 165 miles of super-highway.

Two years ago, DiSalle vetoed a bill to increase the auto-tag fee to $12.50, much to the chagrin of various groups which had supported the two-cents-a-gallon increase in the gasoline tax to support the interstate highway system. Now, the governor's friends report, he is ready and willing to approve a license-fee increase.

Republicans assert the Highway Department has "plenty" of money for the federal matching program, that the department though some bookkeeping ledger-demon has "hidden" enough money to assure full matching for years to come.

DiSalle and Preston have challenged the GOP to bring in a crew of certified public accountants to prove their charges of bookkeeping trickery.

Elsewhere in the legislature, scores of hearings on important measures have been scheduled for the week.

Among them will be a House-approved bill to refund money to contributing counties from disbanded conservancy districts. The immediate effect would be to put about $300,000 from the old Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District in the hands of five southern Ohio counties which plan to form a new Scioto conservancy district.

The House Finance Committee is about ready to apply the knife to Gov. DiSalle's $2 billion-plus state budget. Hearings have ended and the paring process begins. There are three major areas in which both Democrats and Republicans agree more money is needed—schools, mental health and addictions and betterments.

The House is expected to make room in the DiSalle budget for additions and betterments. Senate Majority Leader Mecham has indicated the Senate will cut further to provide more money for schools and mental health. He says frankly the Republican Senate will cut deeply into the DiSalle budget.

Taylor area northeast of here. Obel suffered a broken vertebrae.

Obel made his way to the top of a small hill where he caught the attention of a cruising search plane. A helicopter spotted Mieras outside his hut.

Obel said the Sidewinder sounded like a thud when it hit the bomber.

"The aircraft went out of control," Obel said. "Just before I ejected I could feel the heat. I did not see any fire.

"I believe I lost consciousness very soon after I pulled the ejection seat handle. When I came to my parachute was open."

"The first thing I did when I was on the ground was to unbuckle my parachute harness."

"It was raining, a light misty rain. I managed to open my survival kit enough to get the life raft out. I couldn't pull the chute in to me because it was caught on bushes or rocks. I kept trying, though, and finally got the chute loose and wrapped myself in it."

He then pulled the life raft over him for protection.

"I must have stayed there resting for a couple of hours. I heard and saw planes Friday afternoon and evening."

"I spent Friday night wrapped in the chute and under the raft. I don't believe I slept at all that night. I stayed pretty warm, although my teeth chattered now and then."

On Saturday Obel said he managed to rip two panels from the parachute and tie them to a small tree as a signal.

"The snow didn't give me any trouble. It snowed a little early Saturday morning, around 3 I believe. I slept good Saturday night. There wasn't any snow on the ground where I was when I came down."

He said he awoke around 8 a. m. Sunday and climbed a small hill.

"I saw a plane in the distance before I went up the hill, but it was too far away. I took my mirror and survival kit radio with me."

"I talked on the radio and signaled with my mirror. I draped the rest of the chute out as wide as I could get it."

A cruising search plane spotted the mirror signal and a helicopter was dispatched from search headquarters and picked Obel up.

Ohio Prison Population Up Sharply

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's prison population is alarmingly on the increase.

Correction Commissioner Maury C. Koblenz said that a record number of offenders were sentenced to the state's already-overcrowded prisons during March.

Koblenz said 466 persons were committed by the courts last month blaming the significant increase partly on the current lack of jobs due to a recession.

At this rate, the commissioner said, the 1961 total will pass the record of 4,207 persons committed to the state's prisons in 1958.

Ohio's prison population is about 11,300, confined in what Koblenz calls "facilities designed for about 9,000."

Even opening the new prisons at Lebanon and Grafton to full use will not alleviate the problem, he added.

Lebanon, now in partial use, is expected to be completed late this year, providing another 1,000 beds. Grafton (near Elyria) hasn't even been started, but may provide 1,500 beds in about four years. The Division of Correction also wants to build a 2,000-man prison near London in Madison County.

Koblenz reported the most serious overcrowding is at Ohio Penitentiary, where between 4,650 and 4,750 inmates usually are crowded into facilities designed for 3,000. To help alleviate this problem the division is converting an extra building into a 600-man dormitory.

Mansfield Reformatory presented a second crucial problem of serious overcrowding, Koblenz said.

The Emperor Charlemagne (742-814) founded many cathedral and monastery schools although he himself was illiterate until his old age.

The World Today

By James Marlow

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt, who died 16 years ago Wednesday, wouldn't have trouble recognizing the world today. He helped shape it, the good and the terrible.

There are similarities, and differences, between him and President Kennedy. But much the latter is trying to do would hardly be possible without Roosevelt.

Roosevelt's early view of the world was more limited than Kennedy's. But the latter can thank Roosevelt for helping make his broader.

Before he died Roosevelt laid the groundwork for creation of both the United Nations and the atom bomb, the former a landmark in man's efforts for the good of mankind, the latter man's most terrible achievement.

Of all that has happened in these 16 years perhaps only two developments might surprise Roosevelt: the aggressive march of communism, which until World War II had stayed inside its own frontiers, and the freedom of colonial people.

By the time Roosevelt ran for the presidency in 1932 the country was sunk in depression. Even so he was not clear on how to handle it. He worked that out later.

Stark County Lake's Name May Be Changed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A move to rename Stark County Lake to Lake Light, in honor of James M. Light for his lifetime efforts in behalf of conservation, has received the endorsement of the League of Ohio Sportsmen. The action was taken Sunday at the league's directors and delegates meeting.

In other action, the league appointed David Gulch of Toledo as chairman of its Ohio Northwest District youth activities program and threw its support behind a bill before the Ohio House which would institute a crash program for purchase of wastelands for wildlife conservation.

In his San Francisco Commonwealth Club speech of Sept. 3, 1932—he said America was no longer a place of endless opportunity where a man could head west and settle on new, free land. There was no more frontier, he said, because the Pacific had been reached.

These were some of his words:

3 Youngsters In Jail Plead For Freedom

COLQUITT, Ga. (AP)—The three youngsters pressed their faces against the bars on the jail house window and shouted: "We won't run away, honest we won't. Let us out."

The 10-year-old boy and his two sisters, aged 12 and 14, have been in jail in this southwest Georgia city for two weeks because they stayed away from school and threatened to run away from their grandmother's house.

Sheriff W. Felix Tabb said the three were abandoned by their mother and that their father died in 1959. He said they had violated no laws but were locked up because their grandmother could not control them.

Superior Court Judge Walter I. Geer held a hearing, the sheriff said, and decided the best thing to do was send them to training school. "There was no other place for them to go. We figured the mother might cause trouble if they were located in a home," he said.

The sheriff said the youngsters would remain in jail until papers can be processed for them to be transferred to state training schools. He said he did not know how long this would take.

The children told a reporter they were willing to go anywhere as long as it wasn't another jail or a training school. And as the reporter left they shouted after him and waved from the window.

"The turn of the tide came with the turn of the century. Our last frontier has long since been reached."

This was strictly a man thinking in national terms only. He later led the country into internationalism.

Kennedy, 28 years later, also spoke of a frontier—but not the last one.

In accepting the Democratic nomination at Los Angeles last July 15, Kennedy said: "the problems are not all solved and the battles are not all won and we stand today on the edge of a new frontier."

Kennedy now was talking about the worldwide challenge of the future. Later, in his inaugural speech of Jan. 20, 1961, Kennedy picked the word "tide," which Roosevelt had used, to say it was "running out" on us.

But it was Roosevelt's thinking—developed the hard way, by trial and error, during the years of his presidency—which makes it possible now for Kennedy to think as he does and with such self-assurance in such fields as foreign aid (Roosevelt started it with lend-lease) and the recognition that the government has responsibility for the general welfare (Roosevelt accomplished this with Supreme Court backing in such fields as Social Security and unemployment pay).

All this had become an accepted part of American life by the time Kennedy ran for the presidency. His programs in one form or another are extensions of Roosevelt's programs, for example his request for medical care for the aged under Social Security and extended unemployment pay.

By the time Roosevelt died this country, no longer self-centered, had shaken off isolation and had entered deeply through war into international cooperation.

Kennedy is extending that and elaborating upon it, just as President Truman and Eisenhower did.

The relief programs Roosevelt created for the hungry and jobless at home, over some intense opposition, were simply an early form of the Truman-Eisenhower-

Kennedy foreign aid programs for backward peoples.

Thus Roosevelt, feeling his way and without a clear philosophy on it when he first took office, worked out basic policies, both domestic and foreign, which are still basic.

'Leak' System in Pentagon

A widespread Pentagon practice of "leaking" information to the public has been attacked by the Army's General Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Lemnitzer is specifically angry about a leak which made it appear he was contesting a decision by Secretary of Defense McNamara. But he attacked the "leak" system on broader grounds.

In Pentagon politics, the informer frequently has a private ax to grind, and dribbles out his information not to inform, but to torpedo a rival.

But in the broader field of information and secrecy in government, the new administration has not done so well. The Eisenhower administration was criticized for concealing information which the public had a right to have. A similar pattern of secrecy is becoming apparent in the new administration. There is a growing feeling that too much news is being kept from the public.

Don't Let Worry Scalp You

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail.

Don't let worry scalp you. It has been found that extreme mental or physical stress may cause a fallout—at least temporarily—from 100 to 1,000 hairs a day.

But cheer up. If you have an average of 100,000 or more hairs on your head, you have to lose at least 25,000 before even your closest enemies will notice the loss enough to start prematurely greeting you with "Hi, baldy!"

How much air do you use? Awake and relaxed, you breathe a pint of air 16 times a minute. Asleep, you ordinarily breathe only 12 times a minute. But if you are having a bad dream the rate doubles to 24 breaths a minute.

It seems to be a woman's world among rats as well as people. Experiments showed girl rats not only can outrun boy rats, they also live longer.

Things do get hot in the national capital. We are informed the Pentagon seeks to maintain a temperature of 78 degrees. This seems a bit high in view of some scientific evidence that man's thinking ability tends to diminish above a temperature of 70 degrees.

The prejudice against lady drivers predates the automobile. In 205 B.C. Rome passed a law banning women from driving chariots on the grounds they caused too many traffic accidents.

Before communism, Russian Orthodox Catholics were among the world's strictest observers of Lent. Butter, eggs, milk and cheese were completely forbidden as well as meat. Many devout Russian peasants subsisted during the entire Lenten season on nothing but potatoes, bread and water.

Something new to chew on: Every year some 750,000 Americans are fitted out with artificial teeth.

It isn't necessarily true that if you spare the rod you'll spoil the child. Studies at Cornell University showed that the children of parents who relied heavily on physical punishment to maintain discipline tended to have more feelings of inferiority, less sense of humor, and were less socially adjusted and more easily frustrated than other children.

Do you think of Africa as a pagan continent? About 20 per cent of its population of 224 million is Christian. An even larger percentage is Moslem.

A sobering thought: The United States, one of the richest of nations, still lists suicide as a major cause of preventable death. Every hour a number of people in this country try to take their lives—or make a half-hearted attempt to—and each year some 18,000 or more succeed.

Scientists estimate that in our galaxy alone there may be anywhere from 10 to a 100 thousand planets capable of sustaining some form of life. The big problems: How to find those planets, how to communicate with the forms of life on them—if they do exist.

It's hard for the dieter to win. If you are a nonsmoker, the odds are that you are fonder of cakes, sweets and chocolate than a heavy smoker. On the other hand, if you do smoke, you probably go in more for foods with a high fat content.

It was Heywood Brown who said of faith: "Without a belief, a man is helpless against the dragons."

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—The battle to get you to save a dollar is growing about as keen as the drive to get you to spend it. And more and more you have the choice of taking your dollar to the saving institution of your choice or letting your boss do it for you.

The latter is supposed to be the painless way of getting a bond or an insurance policy—as painless, that is, as paying your income tax or providing a pension.

Uncle Sam urges you to save with him — by buying savings bonds and holding on to them and has sweetened the return to tempt you. You can buy the bonds at a bank or through payroll deductions. At the same time Uncle Sam is making a bit more money available for consumer spending to nudge the economy out of stagnation and back to growth. Save or spend, either way you're a hero to some official.

Private shepherds for your savings vie with each other to get you to darken their particular door or save through payroll plans. Various institutions entice new customers with premiums, such as household articles.

Commercial and mutual savings banks have raised the interest they pay on deposits, in many cases as high as various laws will allow.

Savings and loan associations have raised interest rates—especially in growing West Coast communities where demand for loans is pressing. They advertise their higher yields in East Coast papers where rates are lower.

Of late Washington has urged a stop to the hiking of interest on savings so that the associations can lower mortgage charges as a spur to more home building.

Credit unions have been growing steadily—and meeting competition from in-plant savings and lending plans of banks.

Mutual funds and insurance companies have been singing the praises of their own form of investing your savings as preferable to the other's.

Just now the insurance companies are boasting of big gains in the payroll deduction way of taking out insurance. Individuals but life insurance through their office or plant.

In 1949 such salary savings came to $300 million. In 1959 more than $1.5 billion was put on the books this way. The Institute of Life Insurance estimates that in 1960 the sum topped $2 billion, with more than 30,000 companies providing such service — 6,000 of them for the first time last year.

A pioneer in the field, Equitable Life Assurance Society, says in 1960 its sales of salary savings insurance on 21,500 policies topped $125 million, up five fold in 10 years. Equitable's pioneer plan was for employees of the New York Telephone Company in the mid-1920s.

In all 116 companies include such plans in their portfolios.

A similar allotment plan is available to members of the armed forces through representatives of private insurance companies who have permission to solicit sales on military bases. The government deducts the insurance premiums.

A PUBLISHER was remonstrating with an author who signed contracts with anybody who offered him a large enough advance. "You cheapen your product by appealing under so many different imprints," insisted the publisher.

"I don't see why you object," said the author. "Publishers have many authors; why shouldn't an author have many publishers?"

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.
You may find yourself being fingerpriced if Junior's lungs and air passages are regular targets for germs!

Black thumbprints suggest that cystic fibrosis runs in the family. If both you and Hubby are carriers, Junior may inherit cystic fibrosis.

First named "cystic fibrosis" because of scars and cysts found in the pancreas, the name was later changed to "mucoviscidiosis" when the underlying cause turned out to be thick, glue-like (viscid) mucus. It clogs both the pancreas to intestine passage and the bronchial tubes.

No one suspected that mucoviscidiosis also loads extra salt into spit, sweat and tears. Salt-saturated sweat shows up as a black thumbprint on a special chemical plate. Salt loss explains why mucoviscidiosis victims have to tank up with extra salt and minerals to withstand hot weather and overheated rooms.

As gummy mucus sticks in his air passages, the victim hacks and retches but can't bring up anything. Germs frolic in these blocked bronchial tubes and infect the lungs again and again.

Without pancreas - chemicals the small intestine can't digest most food. Undigested bulk rushes through his intestine like the Super Chief.

Sometimes the pancreas is spared. Many adults with chronic bronchitis are probably cystic fibrosis sufferers.

Steam inhalations followed by coughing with the head and chest bent over the side of the bed help clear the lungs. As your doctor about inhalations containing a special detergent (mucus-thinning) mist along with antibiotic germ-killers.

Giant doses of vitamins, pancreas-chemicals and liver shots all help digestion. Still, the cystic fibrosis menu is essential.

One of the most famous of the old silver coins was the Roman denarius, which was worth 17 cents in modern money.

An Analysis on the Birch Society

By George Sokolsky

I think that I wrote the first article (January 14) calling attention to the John Birch Society. Since then there has been a plethora of discussion, some competent, some absurd. Let us analyze the position with some objectivity.

Any American citizen is free to organize an association or express his ideas and to advocate his purposes. This is guaranteed in the Constitution. However, no organization may be established to commit crime like the Mafia, or to sell narcotics or overthrow the government of the United States by force and violence.

No accusations have been made against the John Birch Society which brings it within these categories. The worst crime this Society is accused of having committed is that it is to the right of Louis XIV. But is it a crime to ask whether these days bring more contentment than those?

I disagree with the John Birch Society's campaign to impeach the Chief Justice, Earl Warren. I wrote that it is both strategically and tactically unsound and received a whole of a mail, couched in identical language, pitying me for being so wrong. If an organization wishes to have its members write letters to public men, who can say them nay. The public men do not have to read the letters; they may weigh them on scales to see how many pounds of mail came from this one group.

There is no law which forbids citizens to organize to have an official impeached by due process of the law. It is possible to believe that those citizens are incorrect in their views and to say so. But neither side to the controversy commits a crime by being controversial. As a matter of fact, this country would be improved if more of us were controversial. We are not suffering from objecting too much; we are suffering from too much conformity.

Robert Welch, Jr., who is the founder of the John Birch Society, is opposed to Communism and believes that it is sound to fight fire with fire. Most fire departments prefer to fight fire with water or with chemicals. Welch organized as he thinks the Communists organize, namely by arranging for small cells, often unknown to each other. Communists do not organize that way at all.

It is the Soviet espionage organizations that are organized that way. No one can question Welch's sincerity or his desire to serve his country. How deeply he has studied Hegel, Darwin, Marx, Engels, Lenin, Bukharin, Bernstein, and the history of the 19th century, I do not know. He jumps at conclusions often based in misapplication of terms. But none of this is as criminal as the treason of the Communists and many of their fellow-travelers. Bob Welch is not understanding all the deviations and revisions of the Social Democratic movement or the synthesis that Marx produced of Darwin, Huxley, Hegel, Feuerbach and Bakunin.

It is not sound to believe that everyone who disagrees, in 1961, after two world wars and a universal depression, with the economics of Mark Hanna is a Communist. As a matter of fact, Conservatives who are firm believers, for instance, in the free market, cannot find one upon the face of the Earth.

Nevertheless, a man has the right, in this country, to organize an association which recognizes the status quo ante bellum as preferable, just as an architect may organize a society to prefer Michelangelo to Lloyd Wright or as a musician might organize a society to advocate Stravinsky in preference to Wagner.

Robert Welch, Jr. has requested a public hearing from a Congressional Committee. The risk is that his associates may sound like crackpots; the benefit is that they will be able to state their case. Such a Committee would ask Robert Welch if he really believes that ex-President Eisenhower is a Communist. Obviously, the former President is not a Communist; he is a golfer. Nor can anyone say that Jack Kennedy is a Communist; he is a Roman Catholic and a member of the Communist Party must be an atheist, a believer in dialectical materialism.

It is so easy to straighten out many of these things by a definition of terms. A Communist is a person who accepts a clearly stated dogmatic set of sociological postulates. Whoever does not accept these postulates cannot be a Communist, no matter how hard he tries or how violently he is accused. Neither ex-President Eisenhower nor Chief Justice Earl Warren fits the specifications.

Famous McGee Closet Closed

Fibber's Sharp-Tongued Wife Dies at Age 62

ENCINO, Calif. (AP)—Marian Jordan, the sharp-tongued but soft-hearted wife of the famed "Fibber McGee and Molly" radio show, died of cancer Friday—a week before her 63rd birthday.

She and Jim Jordan, husband and co-star, amused millions in the pre-TV era with their gentle humor as the daffy couple who lived in the mythical town of Wistful Vista.

Closed forever now is the McGees' fantastically cluttered closet. Whenever McGee opened it—at least once a show—hundreds of articles spilled thunderously onto the floor—a sure laugh from coast to coast.

Molly's tart, quavery rebuke, "Tain't funny, McGee," became a national expression. Her portrayal of the precocious little girl next door who flabbergasted the McGees with impossible questions brought chuckles to many.

Although among radio's top entertainers, the Jordans never made it on TV. The show was attempted on TV with another cast—but failed.

To many fans, it seemed their quiet jokes, the whimsical residents of Wistful Vista and their bulging closet could only be appreciated by the ear and the imagination. Somehow their humor got lost in the cavernous clutter of a TV set.

The Jordans started as a vaudeville team before World War I. Molly (few thought of her as Marian) was a piano teacher in Peoria, Ill., and Jordan, a wholesale drug clerk earning $8 a week. They said it was love at first sight—and they married in 1918.

In 1931, they met Don Quinn, a struggling radio writer, and together they developed a new comedy radio show, "Smackout"—featuring a grocery store "smack out" of just about everything.

Their folksy humor developed into the "McGee" format—a bragging suburbanite householder and his long-suffering, skeptical wife. The series started in 1935 and ran nearly 20 years—achieving a top rating throughout radio's heyday.

Snow Helps Thieves

Hum of Auto Plants Proves Sweet Music to Economy

NEW YORK (AP)—Sweet music was piped through the nation's business community this week—the sound of automobile factories humming.

Stepped up production through the auto industry, reflecting a sharp upturn in March sales, held promise of a spring tonic to steel, glass, rubber and other important auto-supplying sectors of the country.

There were other brightening signs that set economists, business executives and government officials to talking about the pace of recovery and drowned out debate whether the 1960-61 slump was "bottoming out."

A wave of exuberance swept Wall Street, spiralling stock market volume beyond the 7 million share mark Tuesday on the New York Stock exchange. Trading hit a 5½ year high. Prices climbed although not much.

Word came of a decline in unemployment in mid-March, of stronger sales in some areas of business, recall of furloughed railroad and industrial workers, upturn in steel production and rising outlays for construction.

Easter buying, while a hair breadth behind Easter week a year ago when the holiday came in mid-month, was up 5 to 9 per cent on the retail level on a direct calendar comparison basis.

There were discouraging developments too, but not nearly so many.

Lumber production was off, electricity output dipped slightly to a 1961 low point and railroad carloadings barely exceeded the dismal figure for the preceding week.

And nagging doubt persisted over the degree to which economic improvement would dry up disturbingly high joblessness—still at about 5.5 million on March 15. Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said 10.5 million new jobs would have to be created in the next year to achieve the theoretical goal of full employment. This would be after allowance for natural growth in the work force, job attrition from better production methods and other factors.

Expressions of optimism came from several sources, notably from the men who do the buying for U.S. business.

"The economy may have rounded the bend toward the upside," said a committee report by the National Association of Purchasing Agents.

Business advisors to Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges foresaw a spurt in national output from the presently estimated annual level of $503.5 billion to perhaps $520 billion in the fourth quarter.

Hodges disclosed he was enlisted help in trying to formulate a code of ethics for businessmen—that a group of businessmen, philosophers and business educators is doing spadework on the project.

Hodges, a former textile executive, has been disturbed over the anti-trust conspiracy in the heavy electrical equipment industry which he recently said has put business under an indictment.

The price-fixing, bid-rigging episode struck sparks in another quarter, creating a stir at the annual meeting in Pittsburgh, Pa. of Westinghouse Electric Corp., one of the firms involved.

A stockholders' demand for

Sheriff, Staff List Activity For March

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department investigated 16 accidents and took action on 37 complaints during March.

According to Sheriff Walton W. Spangler's report, six persons were injured in the accidents, 16 vehicles were damaged and eight mishaps included property damage. No fatal crashes were investigated by the department.

The March accident total is one less than the 17 investigated in February and 15 less than the 31 in January.

Complaints investigated included 11 burglaries, two fires, one drowning, seven thefts, one domestic case and 15 of a miscellaneous nature.

The complaint portion of the report showed an increase of six over the 31 calls received in February. The January slate also numbered 31.

Cleveland Is Named Athens Ad Director

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Marvin McDarg, a Cleveland advertising man, has been named advertising director of the Athens Messenger, publisher Gordon K. Bush announced.

McDarg succeeds P. O. Nichols, retiring this week after 40 years with the newspaper. Nichols is a former secretary of the Advertising Executives Association of Ohio Daily Newspapers.

ouster of the company's three top officers was overwhelmingly rejected after being greeted with scattered boos.

The brightening auto picture came on the heels of the industry's bleakest first quarter since 1952 from a production standpoint.

As the result of brisk March sales, an overall boost in production schedules of 18 per cent was ordered for the April-June quarter, according to Ward's automotive reports.

Some manufacturers embarked on a far steeper step up in assemblies ranging to a 40 per cent rise for Chrysler.

However, although March sales of 482,376 units represented a sharp jump the results were only 83.8 per cent of the same month a year ago.

And there was still some shutting down of assembly plants temporarily—by Chrysler in Detroit, St. Louis and Los Angeles and by Ford Motor Co. in St. Paul, Minn. and Dearborn, Mich.

In steel, a prediction of a 5 per cent rise in April shipments came from the Iron Age. There were reports that production of raw steel probably would rise even more. Raw steel output edged up 1.3 per cent last week, hitting a nine month high but at only about 57 per cent of capacity. Increased demand for flat-rolled products was leading the way up, with support from tin plate and galvanized.

The stock-buying splurge reached proportions that evoked words of warning from G. Keith Funston, stock exchange president.

It was directed, he said, to get rich-quick newcomers in the market flooding in orders for securities of companies they could not identify and whose products they were unfamiliar with. Prices go down as well as up, Funston cautioned.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

What Does that Make You?

DEAR ABBY: To get right to the point, I am pregnant. I know you get lots of letters like this, but I feel my problem is special because my boy friend is a real fink. I mean the whole bit. He works in a library for $180 a month and his idea of a good time is to read a good book over again, listen to long-hair music or play chess.

What happened to me is not his fault. I take all the blame. He wants to marry me, but I can't see myself married to him. I am too old to start raising a baby. (I am 41 and he is 33.) Can he force me to marry him because I am going to have his child?

NOT SURE

DEAR NOT: He cannot force you to marry him. Even though he is far from your idea of the "ideal husband," under the circumstances thank your lucky stars and grab him. The life of an innocent child is at stake. You were "young" enough to get into this fix—now be adult enough to face up to the responsibilities.

DEAR ABBY: I am through giving my wife presents. Every time I give her something she says, "What have you been up to now?" What makes women act like that?

PETE

DEAR PETE: Experience.

DEAR ABBY: My 11-year-old daughter has been invited to several birthday parties. I have always driven her there, stayed during the party and then driven her home.

The mother of a girl, my daughter's age, took it upon herself to remind me that the invitations do not include mothers. She said it made a lot of extra work for the mother giving the party. I always felt welcome until this busybody brought it up. Please print your answer as I do not wish to give my name and address.

WELCOME OR NOT?

DEAR WELCOME: Accept this mother's suggestion as a bit of

Deer Thinclads Get Win at Frankfort

The Deers of Williamsport brought home a 63-55 track victory from Frankfort Friday.

Williamsport accumulated seven first places in the meet and gained a tie for top spot in the pole vault.

Setting the pace for the Deers was Howard Reeser with two firsts. He covered the mile run in 5:11.3 and the 880 jaunt in 2:16.8.

Also tucking away firsts for Williamsport was Hooks in the 120-yard high hurdles and the high jump. He skimmed the hurdles in 18.3 and leaped 5' 4" in the high jump.

ADDITIONAL top places went to Gerhardt in the 440, Marty Noble in the broad jump and Willis a tie in the pole vault.

The Deers won the mile relay, with Hooks, Gerhardt, Wisecup and Reisinger carrying the baton. The meet was the first of the season for Coach Glen Chester's thinclads. They are scheduled at Washington C. H. today, but damp weather probably will force a postponement.

Dr. Hull Directs Talk to Athletes

CONGRATULATIONS — Sam Weller, ace center for this season's CHS cage team, receives a handshake from Dr. Jimmy Hull, guest speaker at the Booster Club banquet here Saturday night. Weller holds the trophy presented him by the CHS Stooze Club for being named to the first unit All-SCO League team. (Staff Photo)

An impressive talk by Dr. Jimmy Hull of Columbus highlighted the Circleville Booster Club banquet honoring the CHS basketball and wrestling teams here Saturday night.

Dr. Hull, a former All-American cager at Ohio State University and an avid follower of the game today, told the local athletes they are making something better in life for themselves by participating in sports. He reminded them that athletics represent a picture of times past and times to come.

The OSU All-American congratulated seniors on both the cage and wrestling teams, noting they should be proud for the effort they gave toward their school.

Dr. Hull said "each and every player must be united to be champions." He urged all to give their very best always and take the code of athletics seriously.

THE speaker also commended J. Wray Henry, Circleville's retiring principal who has devoted 22 years to the field of education here. The veteran school administrator was greeted with a standing ovation following Dr. Hull's comments.

The banquet opened with the Invocation by the Rev. Carl Zehner. A carry-in-dinner followed.

Ralph Starkey, Booster Club president, served as master of ceremonies. He introduced the coaches who in turn commented on their teams. Members of both teams introduced themselves and their parents.

Doing the honors for the wrestling team was Coach John Cur-

Rainstorm Delays Masters Golf Tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Chesty challenger Gary Player and crusty defending champion Arnold Palmer face a delayed final go for the Masters golf title today after a rainstorm drowned Sunday's scheduled last round.

The entire 41-player field must start over again but based on Sunday's canceled activity, Player's four-stroke lead may fold under Palmer pressure.

When the lightning-etched, bloated skies spilled a waterfall on Augusta National course, Player held only a two-stroke lead over Palmer at 65 and 63 holes respectively.

At that point no other contender had a chance for the estimated $20,000 top prize, although 10 players already had completed 72 holes, led by Mike Souchak and Dick Mayer with 291s.

The forecast envisioned partly cloudy, windy weather with temperatures reaching the high 60s. The par 36-36-72, 6,980-yard course drains well, so Player and Palmer, whose birdie-birdie finish carved his second Masters triumph last year, could wind up in a tight finish.

Player, who starts 30 minutes ahead of Palmer, could find himself in the same sad situation as Ken Venturi last year. Venturi finished with an apparent title-clinching 283. One stroke down with two holes to go, Palmer bagged birdies on the 17th and 18th and won with 282.

Between South Africa's Player, seeking to become the first foreign player to win the Masters, and Palmer, the most chagrin over the cancellation came from Palmer. "I was getting the breaks and on the move," he said.

Palmer had wrapped up a 2-under-par 34 on the first nine, while Player—turning the first nine in 35—had floundered to a bogey on the flooded 11th green when play was called.

As the field repeats its final round start, pro Paul Harney and amateur Charley Coe, are tied for third—six strokes off the pace at 212. Pro Bill Collins is at 215 and the trio of Jack Burke, Bob Risburg and Don January are notched at 214.

4 Tilts on Tap For Tiger Nine

A heavy schedule is on tap for the Circleville High School baseball team this week.

Lancaster is slated here Tuesday and action continues Friday with a trip to Washington C. H. to open SCO play.

Saturday the locals head south-east to meet Logan in a double-header. Both games will be played in the afternoon.

The young Tigers opened their season last week with two losses to strong Chillicothe.

Celtics Near Pro Cage Title

Cousy Labels Team
Best Ever Assembled

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The Boston Celtics, just one game from another pro basketball crown, have their "best team — ever" and one reason is the club's only rookie, Tom (Satch) Sanders.

Bob Cousy, the Celtics great backliner in his 11th season, put it this way: "This is the best has kethall team ever assembled. We didn't have Sanders and (Jungle Jim) Loscutoff in the playoffs last year. The Jones boys (Sam and K.C.) are better."

"Now we have a great bench — and that makes this our best club."

Boston is on the verge of its fourth National Basketball Association title in five years.

Sanders hit 10 of 14 shots and scored 22 points — the same number as Cousy — as the Celtics belted St. Louis 119-104 Sunday on the Hawks home court. Bob Pettit had 40 points for St. Louis, but little help.

It gave Boston a 3-1 grip in the best-of-7 series going into the fifth game Tuesday night at the Boston Garden.

Sanders now has an 11-point average for the St. Louis series, no better than seventh on the deep Celtic team. But he's shooting a sizzling .559 from the field against St. Louis and 514 including the Eastern final with Syracuse. This tops the team for playoff action. "He has the confidence now," Cousy said. "Satch always had a fine touch but this is never enough if you don't have the confidence."

McKenneys Rack High Loop Games

The latest tab on scores for Cowboys and Cowgirls bowling at Prairie Lanes showed Nora McKenney and Bruce McKenney with 203 and 201 games respectively.

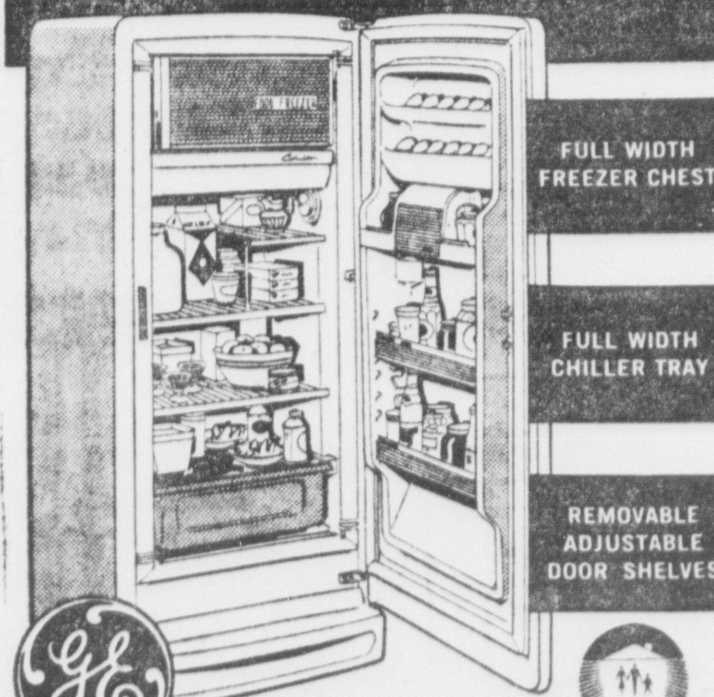

Gale Seymour was high man in series with a 506, including a 201 single. J. Sturgell had high series for the women with a 500.

The McKenney-Minke team coasted to a 638 high single and the Sturgell-Johnston unit hit a 1,843 total.

Baseball Season To Open Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Baseball's most revolutionary experiment of the century—a 10-team major league—was scheduled to get under way in the nation's capital today when the brand new Washington Senators inaugurate the American League season against the Chicago White Sox.

The American League, which beat the National to expansion by one year, has the field to itself today provided the weather co-operates. Everybody is ready, including President Kennedy, who is slated to throw out the first ball. Also anxious to get going are right-handers Early Wynn of the White Sox and Dick Donovan of the Senators, who will attempt to pitch the rest of the way.

A pouring rain drenched Griffith Stadium Sunday. Should the rain refuse to relent, or make the field unplayable, the game will be pushed back to Tuesday when the rest of the American League's 10-team setup begins the flag chase. The National, with its customary eight teams, starts Tuesday. It's 10-team expansion program—involving Houston and New York—will not go into effect until 1962.

Tuesday's opening pairings are as follows: In the American League, the old Washington team, now called the Minnesota Twins following its move to Minneapolis-St. Paul, will play the Yankees in New York; Cleveland will oppose the Tigers in Detroit; Kansas City is at Boston, and the new Los Angeles team will meet the Orioles in Baltimore. Washington and Chicago will rest after today's inaugural, unless rain forces a postponement.

The National opener Tuesday put Pittsburgh at San Francisco, Philadelphia at Los Angeles in the only night game, and Chicago at Cincinnati and St. Louis at Milwaukee.

The season marks the debut of four new managers and a change of scenery for three others. Ralph Houk tries to fill Casey Stengel's shoes at New York; Al Dark tackles the job of restoring peace and serenity in San Francisco; Vede Himsl finds himself the current No. 1 man of a 9-man coaching staff at Chicago and Mickey Vernon takes over the reins of a hand-me-down outfit in Washington.

Billy Rigney, fired by the Giants last June, tries again with the Los Angeles Angels; Joe Gordon, who stepped down at Detroit, rejoins General Manager Frank Lane at Kansas City; and Bob Scheffing, who accomplished the feat of bringing the Cubs home in fifth place several years ago, succeeds Gordon in Detroit.

The National League race promises to be the more grueling of the two. National League managers, sizing up the race, envision every club in the running but Cincinnati, Chicago and Philadelphia. In the American, Baltimore, Chicago and Cleveland are rated a chance to dethrone the Yankees.

The Yankees are strong, fleet, sure-handed and replete with good hitters. They have good front-line pitching. Their weak spots are a thin bench and sub-par second-line pitching. Also Houk, although he has shown himself to be a cool, calm and capable leader, must prove himself a replacement for Stengel.

In the National League, Pittsburgh is pretty much in the same position as the Yankees in the American. The Pirates have good first-line pitching, defense and balanced hitting but, they lack second-line pitching and a strong bench. They also could use more power.

On April 2, 1827, the cornerstone of the first U. S. Naval Hospital was laid at Portsmouth, Va.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Feather-weight champion Davey Moore, having disposed of young Danny Valdez in one round and now fresh out of 126-pound foes in this country, said today he would like to fight lightweight champion Joe Brown.

The Springfield, Ohio, sharp-shooter belted 21-year-old Valdez of Los Angeles out in 2 minutes 48 seconds Saturday night. Valdez was the only American rated in the top 10 in the division. Manager Willie Ketchum and Moore agreed that the aging Brown might not care to risk his more valuable crown against Davey. But they also agreed such a match, preferably here or in Brown's home town of Houston, Tex., offers the best money in sight.

Ike, Kennedy Equal in Golf

Present President Holds Big Potential

WASHINGTON (AP) — Who would win in a golf match, President Kennedy or former President Dwight D. Eisenhower? It would be close, a golfer who has played with both said today.

That's because, he said, Eisenhower has played more golf in recent years than has Kennedy, who has far more potential as a golfer.

The golfer who made the comparison asked to remain anonymous. But he said that Kennedy, with practice, could shoot in the 70s.

Reporters never have been permitted to watch either Kennedy or Eisenhower on the golf course. Occasionally, they were permitted to watch Eisenhower off the first tee and on greens near the club house. Kennedy has permitted reporters to watch him tee off only once so far.

The golfing friend of Kennedy and Eisenhower made these comments about their games: Eisenhower normally was a high 80 shooter. That's about how Kennedy scores now.

Kennedy has a good golf swing. A golf pro would not say the same about Eisenhower's swing. Kennedy learned golf as a child. Eisenhower took it up as an adult. That may explain the difference.

"Driving is the best part of Ike's game. He's generally down the fairway 200 yards. Kennedy is very likely to slug a few 285 yards and then hook a couple into the rough.

"On the middle and long irons, Kennedy is better but Ike has the edge around the green. Jack's main fault here is that he's moving too fast.

"And Kennedy is the better putter.

Summing up, the friend of both presidents says this about Kennedy's golf: "When he's on his game he's as tough as a cop."

Lawrence Washington, half brother of General George Washington, was a Marine Corps Officer.

CHICAGO (AP) — Ch. Conifer's Lance, a sleek-red Irish setter owned by Frank and Katherine Wheatley of Buckingham, Allen Park, Mich., emerged from a starting field of 2,917 dogs Sunday night as best in the show at the 21st International Dog Show.

Conifer's Lance was led to the victor's circle from the final field of six variety group winners that also included the highly touted jet black toy poodle Ch. Cappuccino Little Sister, best in the show at the Westminster Dog Show in New York last February.

Conifer's lance was ably handled by Richard E. Cooper, who put the setter through his paces as he won the sporting group title and best in show honors.

Latin Areas
Said Destined
For Reforms

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Latin America is involved in a revolution for reform and the best the United States can hope to do is channel it, William L. Ryan, foreign news analyst for The Associated Press, said here Sunday.

Ryan, addressing some 200 editors and staffers of daily and weekly Ohio newspapers at the 29th annual meeting of the Blue Pencil Club, said the revolution is one of young men and intellectuals, directed in large part against domination by North America.

The news analyst said there is a seething unrest among Latin American countries and that an explosion in one could very well set off others and bring an end to our Western Hemisphere partnership.

Concerning Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, Ryan said he feels Castro is in some respects becoming a liability to the communists and his days may be numbered. Ryan said:

"However, the revolution will be there whether Castro exists or not. The reforms for which he fought will not be given up, and any intelligent regime in the country will have to go along with them."

Frank Spencer of the Newark Advocate was elected president of the Blue Pencil Club, sponsored by the Ohio State University School of Journalism. He succeeds Carl Ebright of the Columbus Dispatch. George Stowell of the Portsmouth Times was named vice president; Haskell Short of United Press International in Columbus, secretary, and Omer Johnson of Kettering - Oakwood Times, treasurer.

F. W. McGuire, associate professor of journalism at Ohio State, retired after serving 10 years as secretary-treasurer of the club.

Cridersville Market
Is Robbed of $7,000

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP)—Authorities are still searching this area for clues leading to two men who took $7,000 in cash from Pangale's Market in nearby Cridersville late Saturday.

Store Manager Bud Hoehn said the gunman, entering the store about an hour after it closed, ordered him and Edward Divilbiss, another employee, to give them the money in the cash register and then forced them to open the store safe. The robbers fled after locking the two employees in a side room.

Ohio Savings-Loan
Volume Remains High

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Commercial loans by savings and loan associations in Ohio continue to run strong despite the recession felt by many segments of business and industry, according to Andrew C. Putka, superintendent of the Ohio Building and Loan Division.

Home mortgage loans, however, may be down somewhat, he said.

Putka reported all state-chartered building and loan associations had total assets of $3.9 billion as of Dec. 31, 1960—an all-time high. Last year the assets totaled $3.5 billion.

Steel Output
Is Expected
To Show Climb

CLEVELAND (AP)—Steel Magazine today forecast steel production in the next three months will exceed the first quarter's output by 10 to 12 per cent.

The metalworking weekly's revised production estimate for the current quarter is 22 million ingot tons, about eight per cent less than its January prediction. Total first quarter output was 19.7 million tons, up four per cent from the last three months of 1960.

Ingots production this week is expected to exceed the 1,648,000 tons Steel estimated the industry poured last week.

Hopes for second quarter improvement, Steel said, are pinned on a seasonal upturn in consumption, an end to inventory cutting and increased automotive demand.

The magazine reported automakers plan to build about 435,000 cars this month, seven per cent more than they assembled in March. Second quarter schedules are tentatively set for 1.4 million cars, 18 per cent more than were built in the first three months.

"It's extremely difficult to judge the acceleration of demand that we may get in the next three quarters," Steel quoted a top market analyst as saying. "After so many months of disappointment, we're likely to underestimate our recovery potential—particularly in the second half."

The scrap market has reflected bullishness attending the rising steel production rate. The publication's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting grade of steelmaking scrap rose one dollar to $39.67 a gross ton last week after remaining steady the week before.
